

Special School Community Council meeting Sept. 26, 2018

Attending - Jami Branch, Russ LeMmon, Eric Ferrin, (five other parents) Ann Anderson

Discussion - Nebo School District Bond

- Not here to tell you how to vote -
- Here to give information - help others to get the right information

Presentation - shows what we will do if the bond passes

- Options for handling growth - Bond and Build, portables, increase class sizes
- Create a straight alignment pattern
- Why rebuild old high schools? - problems with old buildings - prepares for future growth - better security/safety
- Bond for 298 million on November 6, 2018
- NO property tax increase - only increase occurs in the value of your home
- Money is bonded over the period of time of the building
- Note difference in language - it does require us to extend the amount of time that we owe money - and thus the amount of time that we are paying
- Bond money cannot be used for salaries

Review of Area meetings

- Sept 26, Oct 3, Oct 4

Election dates - Oct 9th - last day to register to vote

- receive ballots Oct. 16
- Last day to mail in - Nov. 5
- Election Day - Nov. 6

If people are confused - direct them to the website

Is there a reason why they chose Diamond Fork as a middle school?

- Probably the choice was made because it used to be a middle school

Discussion of using kitchens in the middle schools

Concerns of kids in multiple schools - how can we balance families

- will look at working with kids in different boundaries
- Will help if we have straight alignment patterns

Discussion of 9-12 model in the high school

- factors - sports, age of students, culture, identity, size of high schools,

What about the faculty?

- There is no new faculty - we are just moving them around a bit

- We will survey the teachers and figure out where they want to be, and figure out what their license gives them the ability to do

Flyers available to take- can take to your neighbors

Also, our school community council that was scheduled to be held on Oct. 10th has been cancelled.