Parent Teacher Conferences feedback

- Chris: The teachers were in their separate rooms to keep them spread out. Fairly well attended. We will continue to do “mini” parent teacher conferences the Monday after the traditional one. We might shift those closer to the end of the term. A lot of value for parents to still come to parent teacher conferences even if their students are doing well. We should encourage everyone to come, not just those students who are doing poorly.
- Teachers: impressed with attendance. Students are more concerned with their grades at the end of the term instead of at midterms.
- Parents: Liked being in the teachers' classrooms. We get a good idea with where their students are everyday, what the environment is like, etc. Being in the classrooms is a little more personable.

School Improvement Plan

- Increase the communication
 - Our school has really increased in the last little time. We had the most of any Junior High

- Youth Support every Tuesday
